

Let's all do our part to keep Sydney's sinks and toilets happy

Whilst your household actions might seem small, you are one of nearly five million people contributing to Sydney's wastewater every day. We're all connected, so what you do can make a big difference.

We remove hundreds of tonnes of unwanted bathroom products and kitchen waste from waterways and our wastewater system each year, costing customers and the environment. This is due to the wrong things ending up down household drains and blocking pipes.

In the bathroom, you can flush poo, pee and toilet paper

In the kitchen, you can put water and soap down the drain

For everything else, it's best to bin it

In the bathroom

Keep a bin in your bathroom for:

- wet wipes
- cotton buds
- sanitary items
- cleaning cloths
- tissues
- dental floss
- hair
- any other rubbish

In the kitchen

- Scrape food leftovers into the bin or compost
- Wipe greasy pans and dishes with a paper towel before washing up
- Pour any used oil, fatty liquids or old milk into a container and place it in the bin
- Dispose of coffee grounds and tea leaves in the bin
- Use a sink strainer to catch small pieces of food

IT'S BEST TO BIN IT.
