Executive summary

Sydney Water has engaged GHD to assess the potential for noise and vibration impacts from the proposed construction and operation of two wastewater pump stations and related pipeline. The noise and vibration assessment forms part of the Review of Environmental Factors (REF) under Part 5 of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 (EP&A Act).

Existing environment

Long-term noise monitoring was undertaken at four locations to identify existing background and ambient noise levels.

Noise sensitive receivers surrounding the construction work areas were identified and include residential buildings, commercial and industrial premises, educational institutes, places of worship and recreation areas.

Four noise catchment areas (NCA) were identified based on the noise monitoring locations. Noise levels at the noise monitoring locations are considered representative of the ambient noise levels in each noise catchment area.

Construction noise impacts

A construction noise impact assessment was undertaken in accordance with the Interim Construction Noise Guideline (DECC, 2009). Construction noise management levels for each sensitive receiver type were based on these guidelines and measured existing noise levels.

Construction works are anticipated to be completed over a period of 9 months. The following noise impacts are predicted:

Pump station construction

Pump station construction would be undertaken at Parsley Bay and Diamond Bay over a period of 6 months. Pump station construction would cause noise impacts at residential receivers located within 200 metres of the construction works. The highly noise affected level is predicted to be exceeded at up to 92 residential receivers.

Noise impacts are predicted at one place of worship located on 32 Fitzwilliam Road, Vaucluse.

Open pipeline trenching

Pipeline trenching works are anticipated to be completed within 2 months during standard hours and would be required along the following roads:

- Rose Bay: Dover Road and Carlisle Street
- Dover Heights: Oceanview Avenue
- Vaucluse: Near Diamond Bay Reserve and Parsley Bay Reserve.

Pipeline trenching works would cause noise impacts at residential receivers located within 500 metres of the construction works. The highly noise affected level is predicted to be exceeded at up to 229 residential receivers.

Noise impacts are predicted at the following non-residential receivers:

- Commercial: 21 Dover Road, Rose Bay
- Educational institute: 12 Carlisle Street, Rose Bay and 21 Wilberforce Avenue, Rose Bay
- Places of worship: 2 Carlisle Street, Rose Bay, 835 New South Head Road, Rose Bay and 32 Fitzwilliam Road, Vaucluse.

Compound operations

Construction compounds would be required at Carlisle Street, Parsley Bay, Diamond Bay and Eastern Reserve. Compound operations would be required throughout construction which is expected to be completed over 9 months.

Construction impacts are predicted at residential receivers located within 150 metres of the construction works if works are required outside standard hours. The highly noise affected level is predicted to be exceeded at up to 12 residential receivers.

No non-residential receiver noise impacts are predicted.

Construction vibration impacts from standard construction

Operation of the rock breaker has the potential to cause construction vibration impacts. Structures located within 22 metres of the construction work area may experience cosmetic damage impacts. Residences within 100 metres of the construction work area may experience human comfort impacts. The roads which contain structures which may be construction vibration impacted have been identified in the assessment.

One heritage structure has been identified on 30 Dover Road, Rose Bay (Electricity Substation No. 94) within 44 metres of the construction work area. Potential impacts at this location would be monitored and avoided, mitigate and managed in accordance with the measures proposed in section 6.1, including using a hand-held jack hammer if rock breaking is required.

Ground-borne noise and vibration impacts from trenchless pipe installation

Trenchless pipe installations would generate continuous vibration emissions during construction and have the potential to cause ground-borne noise and vibration impacts.

Parsley Bay Reserve to Carlisle Street

Trenchless pipeline installations between Parsley Bay Reserve to Carlisle Street would progress at an indicative rate of 30 m/day. No receivers are located within the screening distances for ground-borne noise and vibration impacts.

No receivers are located within the structural damage screening distance.

Parsley Bay Reserve

Trenchless pipe installations in Parsley Bay Reserve would progress at an indicative rate of 20 m/day. The proposed alignment is not located near any sensitive receiver therefore no ground-borne vibration impacts are expected.

Diamond Bay

Trenchless pipe installations Diamond Bay would progress at an indicative rate of 15 m/day. No receivers are located within the screening distances for ground-borne noise and vibration impacts.

No receivers are located within the structural damage screening distance.

The potential ground-borne vibration impacts would be considered short term as drilling would progress along the alignment and impact receivers for no more than 2 to 3 days. The recommend approach for managing impacts is through notification, compliance monitoring to confirm predictions and consultation with residences.

Construction traffic impacts

Potential construction traffic noise impacts were assessed on the local access routes. No impacts are expected along Oceanview Avenue and Carlisle Street as road traffic noise levels would not increase by more than 2 dBA. This level of increase would be expected along Horler

Avenue and Parsley Road, however the predicted road traffic noise levels are below the criteria. Therefore construction traffic noise impacts are considered negligible.

Operational noise

A preliminary noise assessment from the operation of the pump stations has been undertaken. Operational noise from the proposal is predicted to comply with the Noise Policy for Industry (NPI) (EPA 2017) at the surrounding sensitive receivers during general operations without mitigation measures. An assessment should be undertaken at detailed design phase to ensure the finalised design complies with the requirements of the NPI.

1. Introduction

1.1 Overview

In November 2018, the NSW Government announced its commitment to address the flow of untreated wastewater from three ocean outfalls at Vaucluse and Diamond Bay. To address this issue, Sydney Water proposes to construct and operate sewerage infrastructure at Vaucluse and Diamond Bay (the project), which will redirect untreated wastewater through the wastewater network to the catchment of Bondi Wastewater Treatment Plant for treatment, mitigating the associated risks to water quality and public health. The location of the project and the existing outfalls is shown in Figure 1-1.

The project will include the construction and operation of the following key components:

- Sewage pumping station at Parsley Bay, Vaucluse (SP1216)
- Sewage pumping station at Eastern Avenue Reserve, Diamond Bay (SP1217)
- Wastewater mains connecting the pumping stations to the existing outfalls and network.

The two sewage pumping stations at Vaucluse and Diamond Bay would be constructed mainly below existing ground level. The wastewater mains would be constructed by a mix of open trenching and trenchless methods such as horizontal directional drilling or microtunneling.

The key components of the project and indicative construction footprint, including sections of wastewater mains that would be constructed by trenched or trenchless methods, are shown in Figure 2-1.

During normal operation, the project will redirect untreated wastewater through the wastewater network to the catchment of Bondi Wastewater Treatment Plant for treatment. During wet weather, when the catchment is at full capacity, wastewater may continue to flow through ocean outfalls.

1.2 Purpose of this report

The noise and vibration assessment for part of the Review of Environmental Factors (REF) under Part 5 of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 (EP&A Act). The noise and vibration assessment has been undertaken with consideration of the following:

- Interim Construction Noise Guideline (ICNG) (DECC 2009)
- Noise Policy for Industry (NPI) (EPA 2017)
- Road Noise Policy (RNP) (DECCW 2012).

1.3 Scope

The noise assessment has been prepared to address the requirements of the Professional Services Brief, dated February 2019. The scope of works to assess the potential noise and vibration impacts associated with the proposal includes:

- Establishing construction noise and vibration management levels and assessing the construction noise and vibration impacts associated with the proposal in accordance with the Interim Construction Noise Guideline (ICNG) (DECC July 2009) and Assessing vibration: a technical guideline (DEC, 2006) at potentially impacted receivers

- Assessing any construction traffic noise impacts considering the Road Noise Policy (RNP) (DECCW, 2012)
- Providing options for reasonable and feasible construction noise and vibration management measures
- Establishing operational noise management levels and assessing the operational noise and impacts associated with the proposal in accordance with the Noise Policy for Industry (NPI) (EPA 2017)
- If required, providing options for reasonable and feasible noise and management measures
- Identifying exceedances and providing mitigation measures to manage noise and vibration impacts associated with the proposal.

A glossary of acoustic terms can be found at the beginning of the report.

2. Existing environment

2.1 Project site

The indicative footprint occurs at the following locations:

- A section of Parsley Bay Reserve
- Cliff line vegetation along Diamond Bay Headland, extending from the southern side of Diamond Bay Reserve to the northern edge of Eastern Avenue Reserve
- Oceanview Avenue, part of Eastern Avenue, Carlisle and part of Dover Road, Vaucluse and Rose Bay.

The residential receivers within the study area have been categorised into four noise catchment areas (NCAs) based on the noise monitoring locations. These NCAs are shown below in Figure 2-2, along with non-residential sensitive receivers and the noise monitoring locations.

2.2 Sensitive receivers

Noise and vibration sensitive receivers are defined based on the type of occupancy and the activities performed within the land parcel. The receivers can be classified within the following categories:

- Residential premises
- Educational institutes
- Hospitals and medical facilities
- Places of worship
- Passive and active recreation areas
- Commercial or industrial premises.

Representative sensitive receivers used for modelling and assessment purposes were identified based on aerial photography.

2.2.1 Representative sensitive receivers

Representative sensitive receivers used for modelling and assessment purposes were identified based on aerial photography. A summary of the sensitive receivers identified is provided in Table 2-1. Representative sensitive receivers were modelled at the most affected point located within 30 m of the premises in accordance with the NPI.

A location map of the modelled sensitive receivers and the land zone usage is provided in Figure 2-2. The number of residential dwellings identified within each NCA is presented in Table 2-1.

2.3 Long-term (unattended) noise monitoring

2.3.1 Noise monitoring methodology

Long-term (unattended) noise monitoring was conducted for a period of 15 days between 2 and 17 December 2019 in accordance with the NPI (EPA, 2017) to determine existing background  $(L_{A90})$  and ambient ( $L_{Aeq}$ ) noise levels.

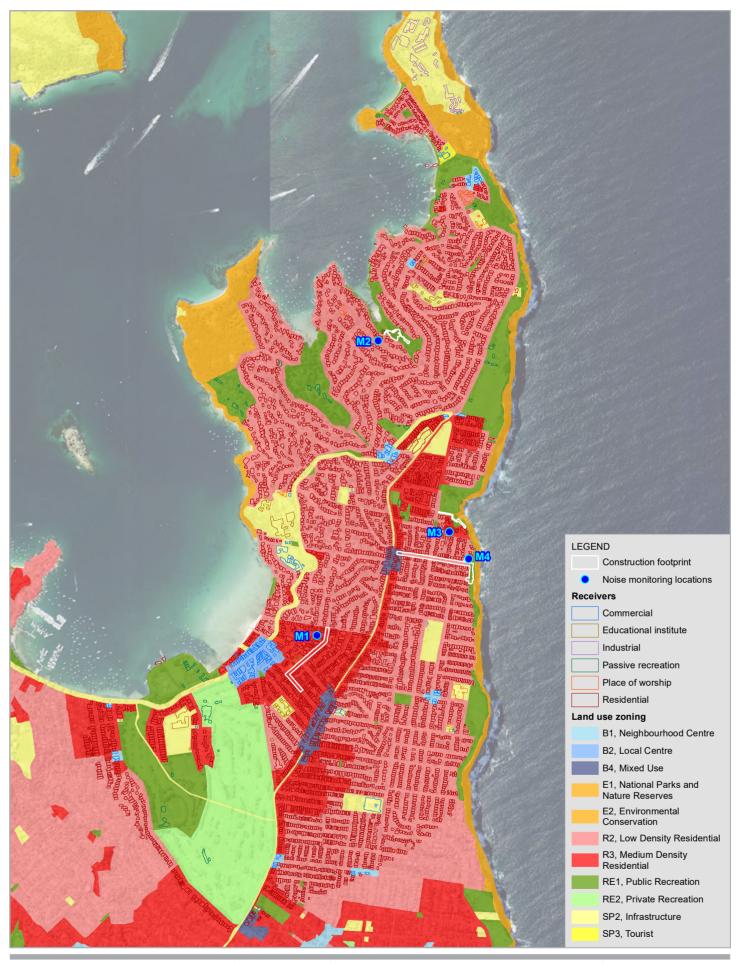

The methodology for noise monitoring involved:

- Noise measurements were undertaken using four sound level meters. All noise loggers were set to measure the background and ambient noise levels continuously over the monitoring period.
- A calibration check was performed on the noise monitoring at the start and end of the measurements. The variation in calibration was within the acceptable tolerance of ± 0.5 dBA at all measurement locations.
- Meteorological data was sourced from the Bureau of Meteorology's Sydney Observatory Hill automatic weather station, station number 066062, located 6.5 kilometres south-west of the project site.
- The data collected from each noise monitoring location was downloaded and processed. Data was excluded during periods of adverse weather conditions where average wind speeds were above 5 m/s (at microphone height) or when rainfall occurred.

A summary of the noise monitoring locations and equipment details are provided in Table 2-2. The noise monitoring locations are shown in Figure 2-2.

2.3.2 Noise monitoring results summary

Background noise monitoring data was used to determine the Rating Background Levels (RBL) for the day, evening and night-time assessment periods in accordance with the NPI (EPA, 2017). The measured RBL and ambient noise levels are summarised in Table 2-3. Daily noise level charts for the entire monitoring period are presented in Appendix A.

Assessment criteria

3.1 Construction noise criteria

The Interim Construction Noise Guideline (ICNG) (DECC, 2009) sets out the procedure used to assess construction noise at sensitive land uses. Noise impacts are assessed against the construction noise management levels during the proposed period of construction.

3.1.1 Proposed construction hours

Construction works are proposed to take place during the standard construction hours in the ICNG and are provided in Table 3-1.

Table 3-1 Standard construction hours

| Construction hours | Monday to Friday | Saturday     | Sunday/Publicholiday |  |
|--------------------|------------------|--------------|--------------------------|--|
| Standard hours     | 7 am to 6 pm     | 8 am to 1 pm | No work                  |  |

The ICNG acknowledges that the following activities have justification to be undertaken outside standard construction hours assuming all feasible and reasonable mitigation measures are implemented to minimise the impacts to the surrounding sensitive land uses:

- The delivery of oversized plant, equipment and materials that police or other authorities determine require special arrangements to transport along public roads
- Emergency work to avoid the loss of life or damage to property, or to prevent environmental harm
- Maintenance and repair of public infrastructure where disruption to essential services or considerations of worker safety do not allow work within standard hours
- Public infrastructure works that shorten the length of the proposal and are supported by the affected community
- Works where a proponent demonstrates and justifies a need to operate outside the recommended standard construction hours
- Works which maintain noise levels below the noise management levels outside of the recommended standard construction hours.

3.1.2 Interim construction noise guideline (DECC, 2009)

A quantitative assessment has been undertaken for the proposal due to the scale and duration of works. A quantitative assessment calculates the predicted noise level at each identified sensitive receiver location and compares it against the relevant construction noise management level.

Construction noise management levels for residential premises and other sensitive land uses are provided in the ICNG. The method to determine the noise management levels in accordance with the ICNG is outlined in Table 3-2.

| Time of day                              | Noise managementlevel, L <sub>Aeq(15 min)</sub> | Application notes   |  |  |
|--|---|---|--|--|
| Recommended standard hours               | Noise affected:RBL + 10 dBA                     | <ul> <li>The noise affected level represents the point above which there may be some community reaction to noise.</li> <li>Where the predicted or measured L<sub>Aeq(15 min)</sub> is greater than the noise affected level, the proponent should apply all feasible and reasonable work practices to meet the noise affected level</li> <li>The proponent should also inform all potentially impacted residents of the nature of works to be carried out, the expected noise levels and duration, as well as contact details.</li> </ul>   |  |  |
|  | Highly noiseaffected:75 dBA                 | <ul> <li>The highly noise affected level represents the point above which there may be strong community reaction to noise.</li> <li>Where noise is above this level, the relevant authority (consent, determining or regulatory) may require respite periods by restricting the hours that the very noisy activities can occur, taking into account:</li> <li>Times identified by the community when they are less sensitive to noise (such as before and after school, or mid-morning or mid-afternoon for works near residences)</li> <li>If the community is prepared to accept a longer period of construction in exchange for restrictions on construction times.</li> </ul> |  |  |
| Outsiderecommendedstandard hours | Noise affected:RBL + 5 dBA                      | A strong justification would typically be required forworks outside the recommended standard hours.The proponent should apply all feasible andreasonable work practices to meet the noise affectedlevel.Where all feasible and reasonable measures havebeen applied and noise is more than 5 dBA abovethe noise affected level, the proponent shouldnegotiate with the community.   |  |  |

Table 3-4 Construction noise management levels, dBA

Note 1: The NPI defines day, evening and night time periods as:

 Day: the period from 7.00 am to 6.00 pm Monday to Saturday or 8.00 am to 6.00 pm on Sundays and public holidays.

• Evening: the period from 6.00 pm to 10.00 pm.

• Night: the remaining period.

Note 2: Noise management levels are based off an internal level and an assumed 10 dBA reduction through a partially open window from the exterior to the interior of a building.

Note 3: Minimum assumed NPI rating background noise levels have been used as the measured noise levels were below the minimum.

3.2 Construction vibration criteria

3.2.1 Overview of construction vibration criteria

The following section details construction vibration criteria for:

- Human comfort impacts due to intermittent vibration (general construction works)
- Human comfort impacts due to continuous ground-borne vibration (trenchless pipe installation)
- Cosmetic and structural damage impacts (general construction works and trenchless pipe installation).

3.2.2 Human comfort criteria for standard construction works

Acceptable vibration levels for human comfort have been set with consideration to Assessing Vibration: a technical guideline (DEC, 2006) which is based on the guidelines contained in British Standard BS 6472 – 1992, Guide to Evaluation of Human Exposure to Vibration in Buildings (1 Hz to 80 Hz).

Typically, construction activities generate ground vibration of an intermittent nature. Intermittent vibration is assessed using the vibration dose value. Acceptable values of vibration dose are presented in Table 3-5 for sensitive receivers.

| Receiver type   | Period                    | Intermittent vibration dose value (m/s <sup>1.75</sup> ) |               |
|---|---------------------------|--|---------------|
|   |                           | Preferred value  | Maximum value |
| Residential   | Day(7 am and 10 pm)   | 0.2  | 0.4           |
| Residentia  | Night(10 pm and 7 am) | 0.13   | 0.26          |
| Offices, schools,educational institutesand places ofworship | When in use               | 0.4  | 0.8           |

Table 3-5 Human comfort intermittent vibration limits

Whilst the assessment of response to vibration in BS 6472:1992 is based on vibration dose value and weighted acceleration, for construction related vibration, it is considered more appropriate to provide guidance in terms of a peak value, since this parameter is likely to be more routinely measured based on the more usual concern over potential building damage.

Humans are capable of detecting vibration at levels which are well below those causing risk of damage to a building. The degrees of perception for humans are suggested by the vibration level categories given in British Standard, BS 5228.2 – 2009, Code of Practice Part 2 Vibration for noise and vibration on construction and open sites – Part 2: Vibration and are shown below in Table 3-6.

Table 3-6 Guidance on effects of vibration levels for human comfort

| Vibration level | Effect  |
|-----------------|---|
| 0.14 mm/s       | Vibration might be just perceptible in the most sensitive situations for most vibration frequencies associated with construction.   |
| 0.3 mm/s        | Vibration might be just perceptible in residential environments.  |
| 1.0 mm/s        | It is likely that vibration at this level in residential environments will cause complaints, but can be tolerated if prior warning and explanation has been given to residents. |
| 10 mm/s         | Vibration is likely to be intolerable for any more than a very brief exposure.  |

3.2.3 Human comfort criteria for trenchless works

Ground-borne noise level targets are provided in the ICNG to assess potential impacts due to noise generated due to vibration. Ground-borne noise levels are assessed within habitable spaces within a residence towards the following levels:

- Day No criteria
- Evening (6 pm to 10 pm) Internal LAeq, 15 min 40 dBA
- Night-time (10 pm to 7 am) Internal LAeq, 15 min 35 dBA

The objectives of the ground-borne noise level targets are to protect the amenity and sleep of residences during the evening and night-time periods where ambient noise levels are lower. There are no ground-borne noise objectives for construction works during the day as higher ambient noise levels typically mask the audibility of ground-borne noise emissions. Potential impacts during the day-time period would be assessed towards the construction vibration criteria discussed in section 3.2

The ICNG also states that, "mitigation options to deal with ground-borne noise may include extensive community consultation to determine the acceptable level of disruption and the provision of alternative accommodation in some circumstances, not just restriction of works hours. The level of mitigation of ground-borne noise would depend on the extent of impacts and also on the scale and duration of works. Any restriction that the relevant authority (consent, determining or regulatory) may impose on the days when construction work is allowed should take into account whether the community:

- has identified times of day when they are more sensitive to noise (for example, Sundays or public holidays)
- is prepared to accept a longer construction duration in exchange for days of respite."

The human comfort vibration values have been adopted to assess impacts from trenchless pipe installations as the ground-borne noise criteria do not apply to the time period when tunnelling would occur. The values used to assess human comfort vibration effects are based on a frequency-weighted vibration value..

Ground-borne vibration would be assessed towards the continuous vibration criteria provided in Assessing Vibration a Technical Guideline (DEC, 2006). Assessing Vibration a Technical Guideline (DEC, 2006) recommends the adoption of the maximum continuous vibration limits as maximum values are appropriate for temporary disturbances of short-term duration. The weighted root-mean-square (rms) acceleration and peak particle velocity maximum values provided in Table 3-7 are based on section 2.3 and Appendix C of the guideline.

| Receivertype | Period                 | Weighted rmsacceleration (m/s²)Maximum value | Peak particle velocity(mm/s)Maximum value |
|------------------|------------------------|--|---|
| Desidential      | Day (7 am and 10 pm)   | 0.02   | 0.56  |
| Residential      | Night (10 pm and 7 am) | 0.014  | 0.40  |

Table 3-7 Human comfort continuous vibration limits

3.2.4 Cosmetic and structural damage criteria

Currently, there is no Australian Standard that sets criteria for the assessment of building damage caused by vibration. Guidance of limiting vibration values is attained from reference to German Standard DIN 4150-3: 1999 Structural Vibration – Part 3: Effects of vibration on structures (refer to Table 3-6).

| Table 3-8 | Guideline values f | or short te | erm vibration | on structures |
|-----------|---------------------------|-------------|---------------|---------------|
|-----------|---------------------------|-------------|---------------|---------------|

|   | Guideline values for velocity,mm/s |                   |                     |
|---|--|-------------------|---------------------|
| Type of structure   | 1 Hz to10 Hz                       | 10 Hz to50 Hz | 50 Hz to100 Hz¹ |

| Dwellings and buildings of similar design and/or occupancy.   | 5                                      | 5 to 15           | 15 to 20            |
| Structures that, because of their particular sensitivity to vibration, cannot be classified under lines 1 and 2 and are of great intrinsic value (for example heritage listed buildings). | 3                                      | 3 to 8            | 8 to 10             |

Note 1: At frequencies above 100 Hz the values given in this column may be used as minimum values.

3.3 Construction traffic noise criteria

The Road Noise Policy application notes state that any increase in the total noise level at existing residences and other sensitive land uses affected by traffic generation on existing roads should be limited to 2 dBA above current levels. This limit only applies when the noise level without the development is within 2 dBA or exceeds the road traffic noise criterion provided in the RNP.

This has been used to identify potential impacts as a result of noise produced by construction traffic and the potential for reasonable and feasible mitigation measures to be applied. If road traffic noise increases as a result of construction works within 2 dBA of current levels then the objectives of the RNP are considered to be met and no specific mitigation measures would be required.

Where construction traffic generation results in a noise increase greater than 2 dBA above current levels, then the road traffic noise criteria in Table 3-9 would apply.

Table 3-9 Road traffic noise criteria, dBA

| Type of development  | Day7 am to 10 pm     | Night10 pm to 7 am  |
|--|--------------------------|-------------------------|
| Existing residence affected by additional traffic on arterial roads generated by land use developments | 60 L <sub>eq(15hr)</sub> | 55 L <sub>eq(9hr)</sub> |
| Existing residence affected by additional traffic on localroads generated by land use developments | 55 Leq(1hr)              | 50 Leq(1hr)             |

3.4 Operational noise

3.4.1 Noise Policy for Industry

Operational noise impacts have been assessed in accordance with the NPI. The NPI provides guidance on the assessment of operational noise impacts which determines potential noise impacts on a community based on an exceedance of the project noise trigger level (PNTL).

The PNTL is the lower value of the project intrusiveness noise level and the project amenity noise level. The intrusiveness noise level aims to protect the community against significant changes in existing noise levels whereas the amenity noise level aims to protect against cumulative noise impacts from existing industry.

For residential sensitive receivers the PNTL is calculated for the time periods provided in Table 3-10.

3.4.1.1 Project intrusiveness noise level

The project intrusiveness noise level is only applicable to residential sensitive receivers and is calculated by a 5 dBA addition to the measured background noise level. Typically the intrusiveness noise level would become the project noise trigger level in areas where existing background noise levels are low.

The NPI recognises that the community generally expects a greater degree of noise control during evening and night-time periods which are considered more sensitive to noise. Therefore in considering the project intrusiveness noise level the following would apply:

- The project intrusiveness noise level during the evening should not exceed the intrusiveness noise level during the day.
- The project intrusiveness noise level during the night should not exceed the intrusiveness noise level during the evening.

Minimum assumed rating background noise levels and project intrusiveness noise levels, defined in Table 3-11, should be used where the measured background noise levels are below the minimum.

3.4.1.2 Project amenity noise level

The recommended amenity noise level is applicable to all sensitive receivers defined in the NPI. This is the noise level objective for total industrial noise at a receiver and is determined based on the overall acoustic characteristics of the assessment area, the receiver type and the existing level of industrial noise.

The project amenity noise level represents the noise level objective for noise from a single development. This level aims to limit the effect of cumulative noise impacts from other industries and developments. The project amenity noise level is calculated by a 5 dBA subtraction from the recommended amenity noise level for receivers that are not impacted by more than four individual industrial noise sources.

The project amenity noise level may be modified in the following cases:

- when the development is located in areas with high existing road traffic noise levels
- when the development is located near or inside an existing or proposed cluster of industry.

The NPI recommended amenity noise levels are provided in Table 3-12.

3.4.1.3 Assessment time periods

The assessment time period used to assess the project intrusiveness and project amenity noise levels are based on the level of average noise energy during the following time periods:

- Project intrusiveness noise level: 15 minute period (worst-case).
- Project amenity noise level: across the day, evening and night-time periods defined in Table 3-10.

To standardise the assessment process, the NPI applies a 3 dBA addition to the project amenity noise level to convert the average noise energy over an assessment period to the average noise energy over a 15 minute period.

3.4.1.4 Project noise trigger levels

The project noise trigger levels used to assess potential operational noise impacts are provided in Table 3-13.

Table 3-13 Operational project noise trigger levels, dBA

Note 1: The project amenity noise levels are calculated by subtracting 5 dBA from the recommended amenity noise levels

Note 2: A 3 dBA addition has been applied to the project amenity noise level to convert the LAeq(period) to an LAeq(15 min)

3.4.2 Maximum noise level events – operational

The NPI recommends a maximum noise level assessment based on guidance from the World Health Organisation to assess the potential for sleep disturbance impacts which include awakenings and disturbance to sleep stages. An initial screening test for the maximum noise levels events should be assessed to the following levels:

- LAeq(15 min) 40 dBA or the prevailing RBL plus 5 dB, whichever is greater, and/or
- LAFmax 52 dBA or the prevailing RBL plus 15 dB, whichever is greater.

If the screening test indicates there is a potential for sleep disturbance then a detailed maximum noise level assessment should be undertaken. The detailed assessment should cover the maximum noise level, the extent to which the maximum noise level exceeds the rating background noise level, and the number of times this happens during the night-time period.

3.4.3 Low frequency, tonal and impulsive noise

The NPI requires that correction factors are added to the measured or predicted noise levels if the noise sources contain tonal, low frequency or noise characteristics. These noise characteristics can cause greater annoyance to the community than other noise at the same noise level. The correction factor adjustments provided in Fact Sheet C of the NPI are summarised in Table 3-14 and are assessed at the receiver.

Low frequency noise is assessed through a comparison between the measured or predicted C and A-weighted levels at each receiver. The A-weighting curve is used to approximate the sensitivity of the human ear at low levels. The C-weighting curve is designed to be more responsive to low-frequency noise.

| Factor         | Assessment/measurement                        | When to apply  | Correction <sup>1,2</sup> |

Note 1: Where two or more modifying factors are present the maximum correction is limited to 10 dBA.

Note 2: Where a source emits a tonal and low-frequency noise, only one 5 dB correction should be applied if the tone is in the low frequency range.

Note 3: Duration correction is a negative correction which increases the noise criteria

4.1 Construction assessment methodology

The following methodology was used to assess the potential noise and vibration construction impacts associated with the project:

- Identifying the key noise and vibration sensitive receivers inside the construction study area
- Establishing construction noise and vibration assessment criteria for the identified sensitive receiver types
- Determining construction scenarios to assess impacts based on an indicative construction program
- Undertaking noise and vibration modelling to determine the likely construction levels for each construction scenario
- Determining the potential impacts based on the predicted levels and the assessment criteria
- Assessing potential construction traffic noise impacts due to construction traffic generation
- Providing reasonable and feasible construction noise and vibration mitigation measures to minimise potential impacts.

4.2 Construction program

Construction of the project is anticipated to start in late 2021 and would be completed over a period of 9 months. The construction program for the project has been used to determine the construction scenarios for this assessment which are provided in Table 4-1.

4.3 Construction noise assessment

4.3.1 Assessment methodology

Construction noise impacts have been assessed during standard construction hours using the following methodology:

- 1. Determine the construction scenario where the most impacts are expected based on the total number of exceedances (i.e. the predicted noise levels are greater than the construction NMLs).
- 2. Determine the construction scenarios where the impacts are most intrusive based on the maximum level of exceedance above the NML.

Factors which contribute to level of noise impacts

The level of construction noise impacts is based on the level of exceedance above the NML and depends on the following factors:

- Type of construction plant and equipment being operated
- The location of construction machinery relative to the affected receivers
- Existing background noise levels
- Attenuation effects from intervening terrain and structures
- Time of day for construction works.

Without the use of supplementary construction noise and vibration controls, the latter three factors are generally fixed. Therefore the level of impact is typically dependent on the operating construction equipment and the distance between the construction works and affected receivers.

4.3.2 Construction equipment

The plant and equipment in Table 4-2 likely to be required in each construction scenario have been modelled to estimate noise levels during construction. Source noise level data has been obtained from Australian Standards AS2436 – Guide to noise and vibration control on construction, demolition and maintenance sites. Other equipment may be used, however, they would produce similar net noise emissions when used concurrently with the listed equipment.

4.3.3 Construction noise prediction method

Noise modelling was carried out using SoundPlan Version 8.1. SoundPlan is a computer program for the calculation, assessment and prognosis of noise propagation. Environmental sound propagation was calculated using ISO 9613-2 Acoustics – Attenuation of sound during propagation outdoors. The ISO 9613-2 algorithm also takes into account the presence of a well developed, moderate ground based temperature inversion. This commonly occurs on clear calm nights or 'downwind' conditions which are favourable for sound propagation.

Ground absorption, reflection, terrain and shielding objects have been take into account the model configuration. The noise model parameters and assumptions for the construction assessment are provided in Table 4-3.

| Parameter                     | Assumption   |

4.3.4 Construction noise impacts

A summary of the number of residential receivers are provided in Table 4-4 for each construction scenario for standard construction hours.

Predicted noise levels for all construction scenarios are presented in Appendix B for residential and non-residential receivers. Construction noise contours for each modelled scenario are presented in Appendix C. Receivers where exceedances of the NML are predicted have been highlighted in both the predicted noise levels and the noise contour maps.

Exceedances of the construction NMLs are typical for construction projects of this scale. The predicted noise impacts would be limited to the construction period only and would not have lasting effects on the community. The level of exceedance is dependent on the type of work being undertaken and the proximity of the works to each receiver. The predicted levels are conservative as it assumes works are located at the worst-case location relative to each receiver and the actual exceedance during construction would likely be lower.

Construction noise impacts have been assessed for each stage of construction identified in Table 4-1. Construction noise mitigation measures are provided in section 6 and should be implemented to minimise potential impacts. A discussion on the predicted impacts during each stage of construction is provided below.

Table 4-4 Residential construction noise exceedance summary

Impacts during pump station construction

Pump station construction would be undertaken at two sites (Parsley Bay and Diamond Bay) during standard construction hours. These works are anticipated to be completed within 6 months. Note that overall impacts at Parsley Bay would be longer than 6 months as the HDD rig required for trenchless pipeline construction would be located at the same site. Potential impacts from HDD rig operation is discussed in trenchless pipeline construction.

Receivers located within 200 metres from the construction work area may experience levels above the noise management level during standard construction hours if no additional noise mitigation is implemented.

The highly noise affected level of 75 dBA is predicted to be exceeded at up to 92 receivers with no additional noise mitigation. In general, these receivers are located within 50 metres of the construction work area. Predicted noise levels at receivers located further from the works would be lower due to distance and increased shielding from intermediary structures.

The following impacts on non-residential receivers are predicted:

- No predicted exceedances at the identified commercial, industrial, educational institutes and passive recreation receivers
- One exceedance of up to 5 dBA at the place of worship located at 32 Fitzwilliam Road, Vaucluse (Wentworth Memorial Church).

Impacts during open pipeline trenching

Pipeline trenching works are anticipated to be completed within 2 months during standard hours and would be required along the following roads:

- Rose Bay: Dover Road and Carlisle Street
- Dover Heights: Oceanview Avenue
- Vaucluse: Near Diamond Bay Reserve and Parsley Bay Reserve.

Receivers located within 500 metres from the construction work area may experience levels above the noise management level during standard construction hours if no additional noise mitigation is implemented. Worst-case impacts would be during excavation and backfill works requiring operation of a rock breaker or concrete saw to remove the existing surface.

The highly noise affected level of 75 dBA is predicted to be exceeded at up to 220 receivers. In general, the impacted receivers would only be highly noise affected when construction works are within 50 metres of the residence. Predicted noise levels at receivers located further from the works would be lower due to distance and increased shielding from intermediary structures.

Pipeline trenching works are anticipated to progress at a rate of 10 to 20 metres per day. Therefore the number of receivers that are potential noise impacted by construction would be lower than the total numbers shown in Table 4-4. The predicted construction noise levels and the potential for noise impacts would reduce as construction progresses along the alignment and moves further away from the sensitive receivers.

The following impacts on non-residential receivers are predicted:

- An exceedance of up to 2 dBA at one commercial receiver located at 21 Dover Road, Rose Bay
- An exceedance of up to 40 dBA at two educational institutes located at 12 Carlisle Street, Rose Bay (McAuley Catholic Primary School) and 21 Wilberforce Avenue, Rose Bay (Rose Bay Public School)

- An exceedance of up to 38 dBA at the places of worship at 2 Carlisle Street Rose Bay (St Andrew's Scots Presbyterian Church), 835 New South Head Road, Rose Bay (St Mary Magdalene's Catholic Church) and 32 Fitzwilliam Road, Vaucluse (Wentworth Memorial Church)
- No predicted exceedances at the identified industrial and passive recreation receivers.

Impacts during trenchless pipeline installations

Trenchless pipeline installations would be required for the following alignments and is expected to be completed within 5 months. These works would be required during standard construction hours.

- Parsley Bay Reserve to Carlisle Street
- Diamond Bay.

The HDD rigs required for trenchless pipeline construction are located within the construction compounds located at Parsley Bay, Carlisle Street, Diamond Bay and Eastern Reserve. A 2 metre temporary noise barrier has been modelled surrounding each of the construction compounds.

Receivers located within 200 metres from the HDD sites may experience levels above the noise management level. The highly noise affected level of 75 dBA is predicted to be exceeded at up to 13 receivers. In general, these receivers are located within 20 metres of the construction work area. Predicted noise levels at receivers located further from the works would be lower due to distance and increased shielding from intermediary structures.

Worst-case impacts would be during operation of the HDD rig and associated equipment including the mud pump, shaker/desander and filtration unit required for pipeline drilling. The predicted exceedances of the NML at residences located in each NCA are provided in Appendix B during standard construction hours.

There would also be noise impacts associated with the micro-tunnelling launch sites for the mobilisation, setup, demobilisation, pigging, hydro testing, connections and restoration. These impacts are considered to be consistent with the noise impacts from the construction compounds.

Impacts during compound operations

Compound operations would be required during and outside standard construction hours at two sites (Carlisle Street, Parsley Bay, Diamond Bay and Eastern Reserve). Operation of the compound would be required throughout construction which is anticipated to take up to nine months. Each construction compound has been modelled with a 2 m temporary noise barrier surrounding the site

Receivers located within 150 metres from the construction work area may experience levels above the noise management level during standard construction hours if no additional noise mitigation is implemented. The predicted exceedances of the NML at residences located in each NCA are provided in Appendix B during standard construction hours.

The highly noise affected level of 75 dBA is predicted to be exceeded at up to 12 receivers. In general, these receivers are located within 20 metres of the construction work area. Predicted noise levels at receivers located further from the works would be lower due to distance and increased shielding from intermediary structures.

Predicted noise levels at all non-residential receivers are below the noise management levels and construction noise impacts are considered unlikely.

4.4 Construction vibration assessment

4.4.1 Assessment methodology

The methodology for the construction vibration assessment included:

- Vibration from surface construction plant and equipment was predicted and assessed with consideration to Assessing Vibration: a Technical Guideline and German Standard DIN 4150-3: 1999 Structural Vibration Part 3: Effects of vibration on structures
- Where noise and vibration levels were predicted to exceed the construction noise management levels, appropriate construction noise and vibration mitigation measures were provided to minimise impacts from each construction phase.

Energy from construction equipment is transmitted into the ground and transformed into vibrations, which attenuates with distance. The magnitude and attenuation of ground vibration is dependent on the following:

- The efficiency of the energy transfer mechanism of the equipment (impulsive; reciprocating, rolling or rotating equipment)
- The frequency content
- The impact medium stiffness
- The type of wave (surface or body)
- The ground type and topography.

Construction and demolition works have the potential to impact human comfort and / or cause structural damage to buildings. Potential vibration inducing activities identified during construction and demolition works include:

- Piling, grinding and cutting will generate impulsive vibration emissions
- Bulk earthworks, construction traffic movements and demolition works will be a source of intermittent or continuous vibration.

Safe working buffer distances to comply with the human comfort, cosmetic damage and heritage structural damage criteria are provided in Table 4-5. Safe working buffer distances for heritage buildings were estimated by doubling the buffer distance for standard structures.

| Activity                        | Human comfort                   | Structural c                   | damage                |  |  |

Table 4-5 Vibration safe working buffer distances, metres

4.4.2 Construction vibration impacts

Impacts for standard structures

Operation of the rock breaker has the potential to cause construction vibration impacts. The safe working buffer distance of 22 metres for standard structures. The following roads have been identified within 22 metres of the construction area:

- Rose Bay: Cecil Road, Chamberlain Avenue, Dudley Road, Carlisle Street, Fernleigh Avenue, Conway Avenue, Hamilton Street, Dover Road, Courtenay Road, Old South Head Road
- Dover Heights: Oceanview Avenue, Eastern Avenue, Military Road

In addition to the roads above, the following roads have been identified within 73 metres of the construction activities and could potentially experience human comfort impacts:

- Rose Bay: Churchhill Road, Fernleigh Gardens, Ian Street, Norton Avenue, Spencer Street, Towns Road, Wilberforce Avenue
- Dover Heights: Bulga Road, Elvina Street, Norton Avenue
- Vaucluse: Billong Avenue, Burrabirra Avenue, Clarendon Street, Craig Avenue, Dalley Avenue, Olola Avenue, Ray Avenue, The Crescent, Wilfield Avenue.

Section 6 provides mitigation measures for potential construction vibration impacts.

Impacts for heritage structures

A number of heritage items have been identified in or in close proximity to the project site including Vaucluse Outfall, a number of heritage listed trees including Forest Red Gums, Sydney Pink Gum, Swamp Mahogany and Red Mahogany, Vaucluse House (Petrarch Avenue), Oceanview Avenue Conservation Area, Oceanview Avenue Sandstone Escarpment Conservation Area and Electricity Substation No. 94. The majority of these items area landscape items to which structural vibration criteria would not apply and have therefore not been assessed further.

The works would not be in the vicinity of the curtilage of Vaucluse House would be at depth beneath a section of Hopetoun Avenue that is excluded from the items curtilage and is over 400 metres from the house itself. The works would include some removal of Vaucluse Outfall and any impacts of vibration on the item would be subordinate to the direct impact of the works. The potential impacts of the project on heritage items, including Vaucluse Outfall, are assessed in detail in the Statement of Heritage Impact (Artefact 2020).

The works on Dover Road are within 10 m of the heritage listed Electricity Substation No. 94 located at 30 Dover Road, Rose Bay. Construction vibration impacts have the potential to occur as the structure is located within the 44 m heritage safe working buffer distance for a large hydraulic hammer. Potential impacts at this location would be monitored and avoided, mitigate and managed in accordance with the measures proposed in section 6.1, including using a smaller or hand-held jack hammer if rock breaking is required.

4.5 Ground-borne noise and vibration assessment

4.5.1 Assessment methodology

A ground-borne noise and vibration has been undertaken to determine potential impacts due to continuous vibration generated during trenchless pipe installations. Trenchless pipe installations are proposed to be undertaken during the day-time standard construction hours in the following locations:

- Parsley Bay Reserve to Carlisle Street: 355 mm diameter pressure main
- Parsley Bay Reserve: 225 mm diameter gravity main
- Diamond Bay: 300 mm diameter pressure main.

The magnitude and attenuation of ground-borne noise and vibration is dependent on the following:

- Site-specific geological and soil conditions. The site is primarily located on high strength Hawksbury Sandstone bedrock covered in shallow soil or sand.
- Terrain surrounding the proposed pipeline alignment
- The oscillatory or impact force of the equipment which is influenced by rotation speed, cutting edge design
- Invert level of the proposed pipeline and the distance to the receiver.

Ground-borne noise is characterised as vibration transmission through the ground into the building structure. The vibration of the building structure radiates audible noise into the internal spaces of the structure. The effects of ground-borne noise can be difficult to mitigate and cannot be reduced by closing windows and doors. The most effective measure for minimising ground-borne noise impacts is scheduling activities during less sensitive time periods, providing residences with notification of the potential for impacts and responding to complaints. Trenchless pipe installations would be undertaken during standard construction hours. The Interim Construction Noise Guideline ground-borne noise criteria are to, 'protect the amenity and sleep of residences' and do not apply during standard construction hours.

Sydney Water have advised, based on previous experience, that trenchless pipe installations of pipe sizes ranging from 225 mm to 355 mm through sandstone are unlikely to cause groundborne noise and vibration impacts at depths of 8 m or more below the surface level. This distance has been adopted for this screening assessment.

4.5.2 Trenchless pipe installations from Parsley Bay Reserve to Carlisle Street

The indicative drilling rate for this alignment is 30 m/day. Based on this drill rate, construction of the pressure main would take up to 62 working days. The longitudinal sections in for the pipeline alignment between Parsley Bay Reserve and Carlisle Street are provided in Appendix D and would be at a depth of more than 8 m below the surface level, in sandstone.

No receivers are located within 8 m above the pipe alignment therefore no ground-borne vibration impacts have been identified.

4.5.3 Trenchless pipe installations in Diamond Bay

The indicative drilling rate for this alignment is 15 m/day. Based on this drill rate, construction of the pressure main would take up to 25 working days. The longitudinal sections in for the pipeline alignment in Diamond Bay is provided in Appendix D and would typically be at a depth more than 8 m below surface level in sandstone.

No receivers are located within 8 m above the pipe alignment therefore no ground-borne vibration impacts have been identified.

4.5.4 Trenchless pipe installations in Parsley Bay Reserve

The indicative drilling rate for this alignment is 20 m/day. Based on this drill rate, construction of the pressure main would take up to 5 working days. The longitudinal sections in for the pipeline alignment in Parsley Bay Reserve is provided in Appendix D.

No receivers are located within 8 m above the pipe alignment therefore no ground-borne vibration impacts have been identified.

4.5.5 Summary of ground-borne vibration impacts

Ground-borne vibration from trenchless pipe installation would be short term as drilling would progress along the alignment and impact receivers for no more than 2 to 3 days. Impacts are considered unlikely as the trenchless pipe installations are located at a depth of 8 m or more below the surface level from any residential structure.

The recommend approach for managing impacts is through notification, compliance monitoring to confirm predictions and consultation with residences. Feasible and reasonable mitigation to minimise potential ground-borne vibration impacts are discussed in section 6.

4.6 Construction traffic assessment

Construction would generate light and heavy vehicle movements associated with worker movements, the transportation of construction machinery, equipment and materials to the site. The RNP recommends that 'any increase in total traffic noise level should be limited to 2 dB above that of the corresponding 'without construction' scenario'. The existing traffic would need to increase by about 58 per cent in order for noise levels to increase by 2 dBA and satisfy the conditions of the RNP.

Construction traffic movements would access the site via the routes listed in Table 4-6.

Table 4-6 Construction traffic routes

| Road                | Road classification | Road traffic noise criteria (day) |
|---------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------------|
| New South Head Road | Sub-arterial road   | 60 LAeq(15 hour)                  |
| Vaucluse Road       | Collector road      | 60 LAeq(15 hour)                  |
| Parsley Road        | Local road          | 55 LAeq(1 hour)                   |

| Carlisle Street     | Local road          | 55 LAeq(1 hour)                   |

4.6.1 Existing traffic

Existing traffic volumes along the local construction traffic routes have been obtained from the Traffic Impact Assessment (TIA) (GHD, 2020) and are based of traffic counts undertaken by Matrix Traffic and Transport between 11 December 2019 and 17 December 2019.

The maximum measured hourly AM and PM peak hour volumes and the total weekday average for each route is provided in Table 4-7.

Table 4-7 Existing traffic volumes

| Road                            | Weekday AM Peak(hourly) | Weekday PM Peak(hourly) | Weekday Average(total) |
|---------------------------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------------|----------------------------|
| Oceanview Avenue                | 75                          | 87                          | 830                        |
| Carlisle Street                 | 147                         | 139                         | 1,386                      |
| Horler Avenue /Parsley Road | 62                          | 42                          | 378                        |

4.6.2 Construction traffic generation

The expected daily light vehicle and heavy vehicle construction traffic generation is summarised in Table 4-8.

Table 4-8 Construction traffic generation

| Road          | Daily movements |
|---------------|-----------------|
| Light vehicle | 30              |
| Heavy vehicle | 10              |
| Total         | 40              |

4.6.1 Construction traffic noise impacts

The increase in traffic volumes along the sub-arterial and collector construction traffic routes would be below 58 per cent due to high existing traffic volumes. Therefore the road traffic noise level increase would be limited to 2 dBA and construction road traffic noise impacts would not be anticipated.

Construction traffic noise impacts along the local roads have been assessed during the AM and PM peak hour periods. The total change in traffic movements due to construction and the percentage increase is provided in Table 4-9. For a conservative assessment, all construction traffic movements would be during the peak hours.

The increase in traffic volumes along Oceanview Avenue and Carlisle Street are below 58 per cent. Therefore construction road traffic noise impacts would not be anticipated along these routes.

| Road             | Time period | Existing | Proposed | Change |
|------------------|-------------|----------|----------|--------|
| Oceanview Avenue | AM          | 75       | 115      | 53%    |
| Oceanniew Avenue | PM          | 87       | 127      | 46%    |
| Carlisle Street  | AM          | 147      | 187      | 27%    |
|                  | PM          | 139      | 179      | 29%    |
| Horler Avenue /  | AM          | 62       | 102      | 65%    |
| Parsley Road     | PM          | 42       | 82       | 95%    |

Table 4-9 Percent increase in traffic volumes

Road traffic volumes along Horler Avenue and Parsley Road is expected to increase by over 58 per cent during the peak AM and PM periods. As the screening value has been exceeded, construction road traffic noise levels have been assessed along Horler Avenue and Parsley Road to determine the potential road traffic noise impacts due to construction.

Predicted road traffic noise levels are provided in Table 4-10. The road traffic noise level increase due to additional construction traffic is predicted to be above 2 dBA during AM and PM peak hour periods. As the 2 dBA screening level has been exceeded, predicted construction road traffic noise levels have been assessed against the day-time road traffic noise criteria of 55 dBA for local roads. The predicted noise levels are below this limit therefore construction traffic noise impacts are not expected.

Table 4-10 Predicted construction traffic noise levels, dBA

| Receiver       | Time period | Existing level | Predictedlevel | Difference | Abovecriteria |
|----------------|-------------|----------------|--------------------|------------|-------------------|

Operational impact assessment

5.1 Noise generating equipment

Noise associated with the operation of the waste water pump stations (WWPS) is likely to include the following:

Parsley Bay

• 2 submersible Xylem NP 3315 HT pumps operating at 105 kW within a wet well (interim).

Diamond Bay

• 2 submersible Xylem NP 3202 HT pumps operating at 47 kW within a wet well (interim).

The following noise sources have been excluded from the noise model as they are to be used only during maintenance works or during emergencies:

- Chemical deliveries (articulated tanker)
- A crane for pump maintenance
- Provision to bring a portable generator on the site for emergencies.

Operational noise from the pipelines is negligible and has not been assessed.

For the wet well pumps, the following assumptions have been made:

- The Xylem pumps have a sound power level of 108 dBA (conservative)
- The internal surfaces of the wet well have low absorptive properties
- Both pumps will be submersed, providing a minimum noise reduction of 20 dB
- The steel lids for the wet wells provide a minimum sound transmission loss of R<sub>w</sub> 20.

Table 5-1 details the noise sources used in the model.

Table 5-1 Noise source sound power levels

5.1.1 Modelling methodology

To assess compliance with the noise criteria, noise predictions were undertaken for the WWPS sites. CadnaA 2019 noise modelling software was used to predict the operational noise in accordance with the ISO 9613-2, 'Acoustics – Attenuation of sound during propagation outdoors' algorithm. Ground absorption, reflection, terrain and relevant shielding objects are taken into account in the calculations. The algorithm also takes into account the presence of a well-developed moderate ground based temperature inversion, such as commonly occurs on clear, calm nights or 'downwind' conditions which are favourable to sound propagation.

The noise emissions are anticipated to be consistent over a 24 hour period therefore only one modelling scenario is required for assessment against the more stringent night-time criteria.

The following inputs and assumptions were made with regard to the model configuration at both WWPS sites:

- terrain topography at 1.0 metre resolution has been included in the calculations
- a ground absorption coefficient of 0.75 was used which represents a mixture of soft (75 per cent) and hard ground (25 per cent)
- modelling is based on atmospheric conditions of 10°C and 70 per cent humidity which is generally considered conservative for noise propagation
- a moderate noise enhancing temperature inversion was included in the predictions
- noise receivers were modelled as a single storey dwelling at a height of 1.5 metres above ground. This is considered to represent the type of residence in the area surrounding the site
- general operations were modelled with the pumps, transformer and A/C unit operating simultaneously and continuously over a 15-minute assessment period.

The layout of the WWPS site is presented in Appendix D.

5.1.2 Assessment of impacts during general operation

The predicted noise levels for the site operations during the night-time period (which has the most stringent criteria) at the nearest sensitive receivers for each location are shown in Table 5-2. As noise levels are predicted to be well below the noise criteria at the nearest receiver, compliance is predicted at all other receivers, and has not been shown in this table.

No tonal or low-frequency noise content was identified for pump operation. Therefore no corrections to the predicted noise levels are required.

| ReceiverI.D | Address         | Receiver type          | PNTL | Predictednoise level | Compliance |

Table 5-2 Operational noise levels at the nearest receivers

5.1.3 Mitigation measures

Based on available data at the time of the assessment, noise predictions indicate that the proposed WWPS operations would not exceed the criteria discussed in Section 3. During detailed design, equipment selection and positioning is required to ensure the operating noise levels meet the operational noise criteria.

Should this modelling identify any exceedance, additional mitigation measures would be considered to reduce received noise levels to acceptable levels.

6. Mitigation measures

6.1 Construction noise and vibration mitigation measures

6.1.1 Standard mitigation measures

There is the potential that construction activities could exceed the construction noise management levels. Receivers located adjacent the construction works may be highly noise affected at some point during construction.

Noise and vibration mitigation measures are provided in Table 6-1. These shall be implemented to minimise potential construction noise and vibration impacts.

Table 6-1 Mitigation measures

Sydney Water Environmental Safeguards SWEMS0019

Schedule work and deliveries during standard daytime working hours of 7am to 6pm Monday to Friday and 8 am to 1 pm Saturday. No work to be scheduled on Sundays or public holidays (DECC Interim Construction Noise Guideline, 2009).

Works will be carried out in accordance with:

- Sydney Water's Noise Management Procedure SWEMS0056
- Noise Policy for Industry (NPI) (EPA, 2017).

Reasonable and feasible noise mitigation measures should be implemented to mitigate noise impacts

Incorporate standard daytime hours noise management safeguards into the CEMP:

- Identify and consult with the potentially affected residents prior to the commencement:
  - describe the nature of works; the expected noise impacts; approved hours of work; duration, complaints handling and contact details.
  - determine need for, and appropriate timing of respite periods (eg times identified by the community that are less sensitive to noise such as mid-morning or mid-afternoon for works near residences)
  - acceptance by the community of longer construction periods in exchange for restriction to construction times.
- Implement a complaints handling procedure for dealing with noise complaints and take actions to minimise potential impacts
- Plant or machinery will not be permitted to warm-up near residential dwellings before the nominated working hours.
- Appropriate plant will be selected for each task, to minimise the noise impact (eg all stationary and mobile plant will be fitted with residential type silencers)
- Engine brakes will not be used when entering or leaving the work site(s) or within work areas.
- Regularly inspect and maintain equipment in good working order
- Arrange work sites where possible to minimise noise (eg generators away from sensitive receivers, minimise use of vehicle reversing alarms).
- Schedule noisy activities around times of surrounding high background noise (local road traffic or when other noise sources are active).

Sydney Water Environmental Safeguards SWEMS0019

If works outside standard construction hours is required then the contractor's environmental representative would:

- Justify the need for out of standard daytime work
- Consider potential noise impacts and: implement the relevant standard daytime hours safeguards; Sydney Water's Noise Management Code of Behaviour (SWEMS0056.01) and other reasonable and feasible management measures
- Identify community notification requirements
- Seek approval from the Sydney Water Project Manager.

Although no night work is planned, the Contractor would carry out the following if night works are required:

- Justify the need for night works
- Consider potential noise impacts and implement the relevant standard daytime and out of hours safeguards and other reasonable and feasible management measures
- Identify community notification requirements (ie for scheduled night work (not emergency works))
- Notify all potentially impacted residents and sensitive noise receivers not less than one week prior to commencing night work
- Seek approval from the Sydney Water Project Manager in consultation with Sydney Water's Environment and communications representatives.

Although no works are planned on Sundays or public holidays, the Contractor would carry out the following if they are required:

- Justify why all other times are not feasible
- Consider potential noise impacts and, implement relevant standard daytime, out of hours and night-time safeguards and other reasonable and feasible management measures
- Identify community notification requirements
- Seek approval from the Sydney Water Project Manager in consultation with Sydney Water's Environment and communications representatives.

Conduct dilapidation survey / asset condition assessment prior to works which have potential to damage existing structures.

Monitor compliance with the recommended vibration levels in DIN 4150-3 1999: Structural Vibration – Part 3; Effects of vibration on structures.

Monitoring would be undertaken prior to operation of the rock breaker and HDD rig to confirm sitespecific conditions and equipment vibration source levels.

Alternative equipment shall be investigated if operation of the vibration intensive equipment results in vibration above the recommended vibration levels. This may include the use of a jack hammer or smaller rock breaker.

6.1.2 Trenchless pipe installation mitigation measures

Mitigation measures that should be implemented during trenchless pipe installations are provided in Table 6-2 to manage the potential for short-term vibration impacts.

Table 6-2 Trenchless pipe installation mitigation measures

Trenchless pipe installation mitigation measures

Implement a complaints handling procedure for dealing with vibration complaints and take actions to minimise potential impacts

Operation of the trenchless pipe installation equipment should be undertaken during standard construction hours where feasible and reasonable

A minimum 2 m high temporary noise barriers should be constructed around the all compound sites including the HDD compound and micro-tunnelling launch sites

Compliance vibration monitoring shall be undertaken at the start of trenchless pipeline construction works. The compliance vibration monitoring would be used to confirm the site-specific soil conditions and source equipment vibration levels. Based on this data the screening distances for vibration impacts should be updated and any residence potentially impacted should be notified.

6.2 Operational noise mitigation

No operational noise impacts have been identified therefore no operational noise mitigation is recommended.

7. Conclusion

Sydney Water has engaged GHD to assess the potential for noise and vibration impacts from the proposed construction and operation of two wastewater pump stations and sewer pipeline. The noise and vibration assessment forms part of the Review of Environmental Factors (REF) under Part 5 of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 (EP&A Act).

Noise sensitive receivers surrounding the construction work areas were identified and include residential buildings, commercial and industrial premises, educational institutes, places of worship and recreation areas.

Existing noise levels were identified through unattended noise measurements and used to establish construction noise management levels.

7.1 Construction noise

Construction works are anticipated to be completed over a period of 9 months and would require works during and outside standard construction hours.

It is typical for construction projects to exceed the construction noise management levels. Any impacts due to construction works are temporary in nature and would not represent a permanent impact on the community and surrounding environment. The predicted noise levels are generally conservative and would only be experienced for limited periods during construction.

Impacts may be reduced through the introduction of feasible and reasonable mitigation measures which have been recommended. However, these mitigation measures are unlikely to reduce noise levels below the construction noise management levels.

A summary of the noise impacts during each construction stage is summarised below.

7.1.1 Pump station construction

Pump station construction would be undertaken at Parsley Bay and Diamond Bay over a period of 6 months. Pump station construction, including compound operations, would cause noise impacts at residential receivers located within 200 metres of the construction works. The highly noise affected level is predicted to be exceeded at up to 92 residential receivers.

Noise impacts are predicted at one place of worship located on 32 Fitzwilliam Road, Vaucluse.

7.1.2 Pipeline trenching

Pipeline trenching works are anticipated to be completed within 4 weeks during standard hours and would be required along the following roads:

- Rose Bay: Dover Road and Carlisle Street
- Dover Heights: Oceanview Avenue
- Vaucluse: near Diamond Bay Reserve and Parsley Bay Reserve.

Pipeline trenching works would cause noise impacts at residential receivers located within 500 metres of the construction works. The highly noise affected level is predicted to be exceeded at up to 220 residential receivers.

Noise impacts are predicted at the following non-residential receivers:

- Commercial: 21 Dover Road, Rose Bay
- Educational institute: 12 Carlisle Street, Rose Bay and 21 Wilberforce Avenue, Rose Bay
- Places of worship: 2 Carlisle Street, Rose Bay, 835 New South Head Road, Rose Bay and 32 Fitzwilliam Road, Vaucluse.

7.1.3 Compound operations

Construction compounds would be required at Carlisle Street and Parsley Bay. Compound operations would be required throughout construction which is expected to be completed over nine months.

Construction impacts are predicted at residential receivers located within 150 metres of the construction works if works are required outside standard hours. The highly noise affected level is predicted to be exceeded at up to 12 residential receivers.

No non-residential receiver noise impacts are predicted.

7.2 Construction vibration

Operation of the rock breaker has the potential to cause construction vibration impacts. Structures located within 22 metres of the construction work area may experience cosmetic damage impacts. Residences within 100 metres of the construction work area may experience human comfort impacts. The roads which contain structures which may be construction vibration impacted have been identified in the assessment.

7.2.1 Trenchless pipe installation (Parsley Bay Reserve to Carlisle Street)

Trenchless pipe installation works between Parsley Bay Reserve and Carlisle Street has to potential to generate ground-borne vibration impacts near the alignment launch points at Parsley Bay and Carlisle Street. No receivers are located within the screening distances for ground-borne noise and vibration impacts.

No receivers are located within the structural damage screening distance.

7.2.2 Trenchless pipe installation (Parsley Bay Reserve)

Trenchless pipe installation works in Parsley Bay Reserve is not expected to generate groundborne vibration impacts as no receivers were identified within the human comfort or structural damage screening distances.

7.2.3 Trenchless pipe installation (Diamond Bay)

Trenchless pipe installation works in Diamond Bay has the potential to generate ground-borne vibration impacts near the alignment launch and exit points. No receivers are located within the screening distances for ground-borne noise and vibration impacts.

No receivers are located within the structural damage screening distance.

The potential ground-borne vibration impacts would be considered short term as drilling would progress along the alignment and impact receivers for no more than 2 to 3 days. The recommend approach for managing impacts is through notification, compliance monitoring to confirm predictions and consultation with residences.

7.3 Construction traffic

Construction traffic generation is not expected to cause road traffic noise levels to increase by 2 dBA. Therefore construction traffic noise impacts are considered negligible.

7.4 Operational impacts

A preliminary noise assessment from the operation of the pump stations has been undertaken. Operational noise from the proposal is predicted to comply with the Noise Policy for Industry (NPI) (EPA 2017) at the surrounding sensitive receivers during general operations without mitigation measures. An assessment should be undertaken at detailed design phase to ensure the finalised design complies with the requirements of the NPI.
