Ryde to Pymble pipeline upgrade – We’re doing investigation work in your area

Sydney Water and our delivery partner, McConnell Dowell–Gamuda Joint Venture, are bringing the Ryde to Pymble drinking water pipeline back into service and upgrading the connection to Wahroonga Reservoir. This essential work will help provide a more reliable water supply and support the growing needs of Sydney’s North Shore.

What we’re doing

Before construction begins, we need to undertake investigation work to locate underground services and inspect the ground conditions so we can work efficiently and avoid delays.

This work will be along Kissing Point Road between The Comenarra Parkway and Wattle Place. Our work hours will be from 7am to 6pm starting Monday 21 September 2026. The work is expected to go for about two weeks.

What you need to know

We understand that our work can be disruptive, and we will make every effort to minimise impacts on you.

You may experience noise from vehicles and machinery on site while we undertake these works.

During this time, construction vehicles and equipment may occasionally occupy street space. Traffic controllers will be on site to help maintain traffic flow and ensure the safety of pedestrians, cyclists, and motorists.

There will be a temporary lane closure during this work. Access to and from some homes and buildings may be temporarily restricted. If we need to work in front of or near your driveway, we will notify you in advance.
