

Sydney Science Park Integrated Water Recycling Hub

Sydney Water is delivering an on-site treatment hub for Celestino's Sydney Science Park development.

The project will not only provide sustainable and resilient water services to Sydney Science Park, but also trial new, smart technologies for the future.

The construction started in August 2021 and water, wastewater and recycled water is expected to be available by mid-2023.

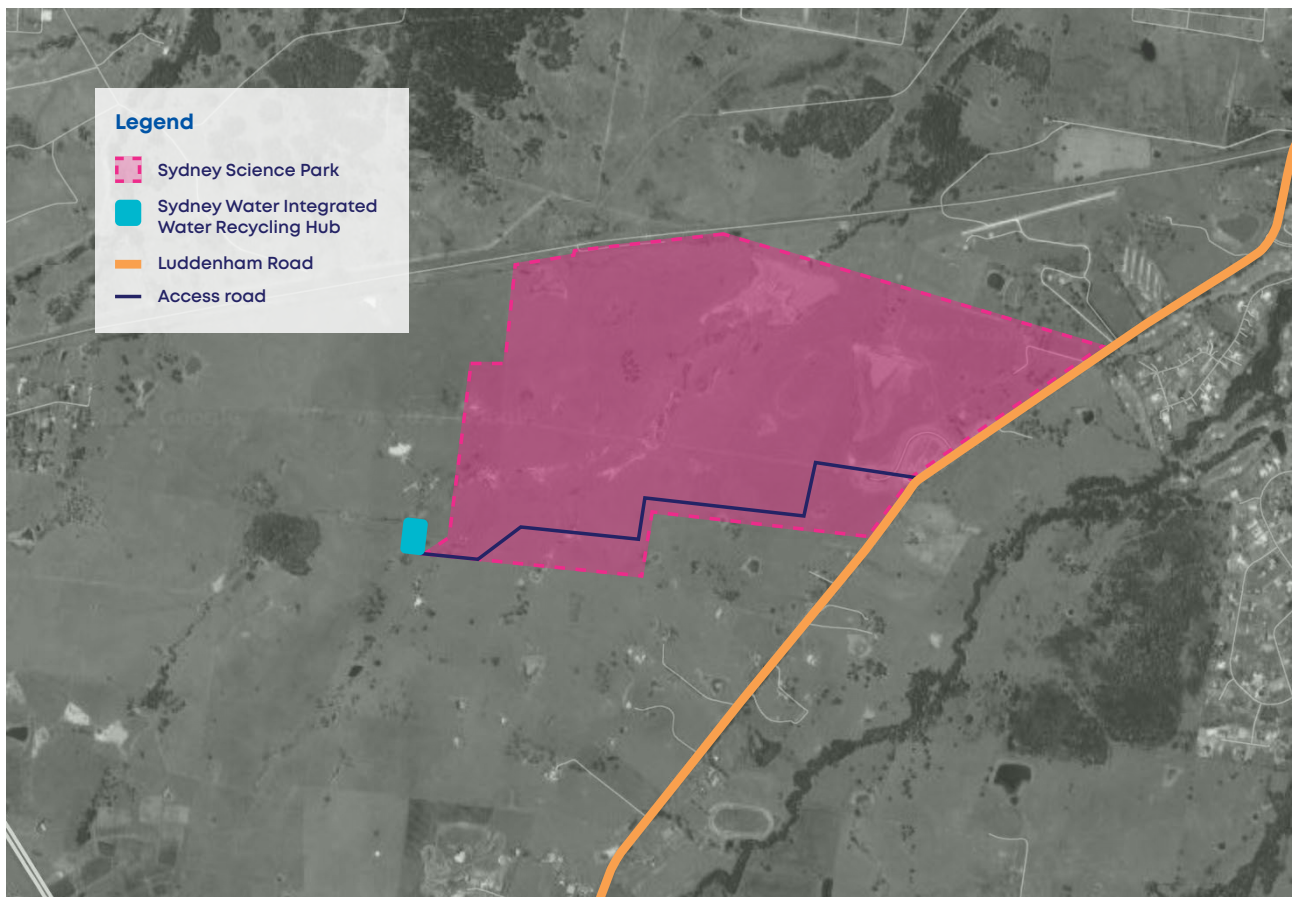

Please refer to the map overleaf for the location of the construction site.

What to expect

Our delivery partner, Guidera O'Connor, commenced construction work in August 2021 and are expected to finish by October 2023.

Work includes:

- vegetation clearing and soil removal
- setting up a temporary compound to store site sheds, machinery, and materials
- civil works using mobile plant
- installation of storage tanks
- concrete pouring
- cladding and roofing works.

Work hours

Our hours of construction for this project are:

- Monday to Friday, 8am to 6pm
- Saturday, 8am to 1pm (if required)

Some out-of-hours work will be required. Impacted residents will be notified in advance of work starting.

Parking and traffic management

There will be regular deliveries to site moving forward – however it won't be a constant flow of traffic.

How we'll minimise construction impacts

We will make every effort to minimise the impact of this work on the surrounding area. The construction site is away from Luddenham Road and removed from any nearby residential areas. Due to project location, we expect that there will be little impact to the community.

We will notify residents and the local community of any impactful construction in a timely manner.
